

Author: Elia Tiudic

Problem: The assignment required the implementation of a pid manager that could create and initialize a data structure to represent pids between 300 and 5000, allocate pids, and release pids.

Assumptions: The description of the problem was clear enough that no assumptions were needed to be made